Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The rejection from the prior office action is maintained and incorporated herein by reference.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 10-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Brown et al.

Brown et al disclose providing an exercise apparatus 38, providing a computer having a CPU and memory fig. 1; connecting the exercise apparatus and the computer fig. 2; and providing at least one connection port operatively connected to the CPU of the computer 26-28, the at least one connection port for interfacing with a predetermined auxiliary device col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5, the predetermined auxiliary device having a CPU and memory col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5, the predetermined auxiliary device and the computer each having a protocol and software for allowing the exchange of data and for the predetermined auxiliary device to interface with the at least one connection port operatively connected to the computer col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5

The method of claim 10, wherein the at least one connection port includes a connection port having a light beam emitter/receiver for interacting with a corresponding emitter/receiver on the auxiliary device col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5.

The method of claim 10, wherein the at least one connection port includes a connection port physically interfaced with a port on the auxiliary device col. 5, lines 64 – 67.

Brown et al further disclose connecting the plurality of computerized exercise apparatus in a network col. 4, lines 29-52, each computerized exercise apparatus connected to at least one server having a central memory core col. 12, lines 24-32, each computerized exercise apparatus having a base exercise machine connected to a computer in turn having a CPU and memory fig. 2, said network including at least one connection port connected to the CPU of the computer of at least one of the plurality of computerized exercise apparatus fig. 2, said at least one connection port for interfacing with a predetermined auxiliary device col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5.

As for new claims 19 and 20, Brown et al further disclose the workout data is at least saved on the predetermined auxiliary device (col. 5, lines 64 – col. 6, line 5), the workout data is at least saved on the at least one server (col. 12, line 59 – col. 13, line 11).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/4/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

1. Brown et al do not disclose "providing a server operable to communicate workout date; connecting the server to the computer".

2. It is not alleged that Brown et al. anticipated the following elements of claim 13: said predetermined auxiliary device having at least one CPU and at least one memory, the predetermined auxiliary device and the computer each having a protocol and software for allowing an exchange of data for the predetermined auxiliary device to interface with the at least one connection port connected to the computer connected to the at least one server having a central memory core.

As to 1 above, Brown et al clearly disclose "providing a server operable to communicate workout date; connecting the server to the computer" (col. 12, line 59 – col. 13, line 11).

As to 2 above, Brown et al disclose said predetermined auxiliary device having at least one CPU and at least one memory (col. 5, lines 64 –67), the predetermined auxiliary device and the computer each having a protocol and software for allowing an exchange of data for the predetermined auxiliary device to interface with the at least one connection port connected to the computer connected to the at least one server having a central memory core (col. 12, line 59 – col. 13, line 30).

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Glenn Richman whose telephone number is 703 308-3170. The examiner can normally be reached on Mon-Thurs.
